Petal Pusher

Friends, we must rise up against the forces of oppression.

We've lived long enough without equal rights to the liberty of floral bounty.

The time has come to claim Petals for the People.

Never again shall we search in vain for unique and affordable blooms. From this day forward, the people will receive bundles of fresh flowers each week with which to create their own unique arrangements.

We fearlessly follow florist Sarah von Pollaro, who guarantees her weekly or biweekly bundles of seasonal blossoms will work together. With great benevolence, she delivers downtown or at central drop-off points.

Follow the light of your computer screen to use von Pollaro's weekly tips for arrangement and maintenance.

And stem the tide of blooming ignorance.

Available online at petalsforthepeople.com.
